

Cat Health Record

Hold a cat's identification, insurance and treatment history on one page that a cattery, a sitter or a new practice can read.

A cat's health record on one sheet — identification, microchip, insurance, whether the cat goes out, and a running line for every vaccination and treatment with the batch number written down.

A RECORD, NOT A RECOMMENDATION

Nothing here tells you what a cat needs. What is given, how often, and what is worth testing for depends on the cat, on whether it goes outside and on where you live — that conversation belongs with your vet. Write down what they decided so that the next practice, the cattery or the sitter can read it.

THE CAT

Cat's name	Breed or type	Date of birth	Sex
Colour and markings	Neutered — date	Weight, and when weighed
Indoor, outdoor or both	Cat flap or curfew	Usual hiding places
Microchip number	Chip database and reference	Collar or tag details

TESTS AND STATUS date and result, exactly as the practice reported it

FIV test — date and result	FeLV test — date and result	Other tests
----------------------------	-----------------------------	-------------

VET, INSURANCE AND EMERGENCY CONTACTS

Vet practice	Phone	Out-of-hours number
Insurer	Policy number	Renews	Excess

VACCINATION AND TREATMENT RECORD

ONGOING CONDITIONS, ALLERGIES AND ANYTHING THE NEXT VET SHOULD KNOW

Write it in plain words — someone else may be reading this in a hurry
