Home Contents Inventory for Insurance

List what you own before you need to, so a claim or a police report starts from a document rather than from trying to remember a burgled room.

Room by room, what you own, what it cost and where the proof is — written before you need it.

ASK YOUR INSURER WHAT THEY WILL ACCEPT

After a fire or a burglary, almost nobody can list what they owned. This is the sheet that answers for you. Insurers set their own requirements for what they will accept, so ask yours what they want before you rely on it — no sums, valuations or cover categories are printed here.

HOW TO USE THIS SHEET

1. Work one room at a time and photograph as you go — a photograph is worth more than a description.
2. Record serial numbers for anything that has one.
3. Note where the receipt or proof is kept, even if the answer is 'nowhere'.
4. Keep a copy somewhere other than the house: a relative, a workplace, cloud storage.

Household ______ Room ______ Compiled on ______ Sheet ______

Item	Make and model	Serial number	Bought from	When	Paid	Photo ref	Proof kept where

Copy of this sheet kept at ______ Updated on ______