

Livestock Tag and Identification Register

Keep track of which tag is on which animal, including the replacements that otherwise break the chain between an animal and its records.

Tag numbers issued, to which animal, and the tags replaced when one is lost.

CHECK WHAT YOUR AUTHORITY REQUIRES

Identification is a legal requirement for most farmed species, and the format, the deadline for tagging and the rules on replacements differ by country and species. This is your own working register — check what your authority requires and keep this alongside it.
