

Mortality and Fallen Stock Record

Record deaths and their disposal, which is both a legal requirement in many places and the record that reveals a pattern nobody had noticed.

Deaths recorded honestly — when, which animal, the apparent cause and where it went.

DISPOSAL IS REGULATED — KEEP THE DOCKET

Disposal of fallen stock is regulated in most countries, usually through approved collectors, and burial on the holding is often unlawful. Keep the collector's docket number. What you may do differs by country and species — check before you need to know.

Holding

Holding number

Year

Collector used

Date found	Tag or ID	Species and age	Apparent cause	Vet involved	Post-mortem	Disposal method	Docket or reference

Losses reviewed — any pattern, and what changed