

Online Account List

Have a list of what you actually hold online, without writing down a single credential.

Where your accounts are and how each one is secured — without ever writing down a password.

NO PASSWORDS. THAT IS THE POINT.

There is deliberately no password column on this sheet, and you should not add one. Anybody who finds a page of passwords has everything. What is genuinely useful, and safe to keep, is the list itself: which accounts exist, which email they are under, how each is protected and where the recovery codes are kept. Store this with your important papers, not beside the computer.

Whose accounts

Compiled on

Where this sheet is kept

Service	What it is for	Email or username	Two-factor method	Recovery codes kept	Paid?	Notes

Who should be told about this sheet if something happens to you