

Pet Emergency Information Sheet

Put everything a neighbour, a sitter or an emergency responder would need onto one page and leave it where a stranger would look.

Animal, vet, out-of-hours vet, insurance, microchip and medical conditions on one page, with a list of the people allowed to collect the animal on the second. Printed to go on the fridge door rather than into a folder.

A CHIP WITH AN OLD PHONE NUMBER IS NO HELP

Fill it in and put it somewhere a stranger would look. Then check the microchip database has your current phone number — a chip is only as useful as the record attached to it, and registration rules differ from country to country, so check what applies where you live.

THE ANIMAL

Name	Species and breed	Age	Sex
Colour and markings	Microchip number	Chip database and reference

VETS

Usual practice	Phone	Address
Out-of-hours or emergency vet	Phone	Address

INSURANCE AND OWNER

Insurer	Policy number	Claims line
Owner	Mobile	Second contact and number

MEDICAL conditions, allergies, medicines, and anything a vet must be told

WHO MAY COLLECT OR CARE FOR THIS ANIMAL people you have actually asked, not people you assume would help

Name	Relationship	Phone	Has a key	Knows the animal	Notes
			yes / no	well? a little?	