

Predator and Loss Incident Record

Turn a run of losses into a visible pattern, because predation almost always repeats at the same hour and the same weak point.

What was lost, when, and how it got in — so the third loss is prevented rather than explained.

RECORD THE PATTERN; CHECK WHAT CONTROL IS LAWFUL

Losses happen in patterns: the same hour, the same weak point, the same weather. A record is how the pattern becomes visible. It identifies no species and recommends no control method — what is lawful differs by country and some predators are protected.

Holding

Stock kept

Year

Date	Time or found at	What was lost	Number	Where	How it got in	Evidence seen	Action taken

Pattern noticed, and what was changed