

Keep one line per sale as it happens, with the payment recorded beside it, so the month adds up from something written on the day.

A running record of what was sold, to whom, for how much, and whether it has been paid for.

One line per sale, filled in on the day. The paid column is what turns a sales record into something you can chase from.

Sheet

Carried forward