

See at a glance who has been trained in what and which squares are blank, across a whole team on a single page.

Write the courses across the top yourself. A printed list would be wrong for every trade but one, and what training is required, how often it must be repeated and what evidence counts differ by country and by sector.

Put the date achieved in the square, not a tick — a tick with no date expires invisibly