

Travel Packing List

Write your own packing list once, for the way you actually travel, and reuse it for every trip after that.

A packing list you write once for the way you actually travel, then reuse for every trip.

WRITE YOUR OWN ONCE, THEN REUSE IT

No packing list is printed here, and that is deliberate: a ready-made list is what stops people thinking about where they are actually going. Write yours once, keep the master, and photocopy it.

HOW TO USE THIS SHEET

- 1 Write the master list after a trip, not before — you will remember what you wished you had brought.
- 2 Group by where it gets packed: bag, hand luggage, worn, last minute.
- 3 Tick when packed, not when thought of.
- 4 Keep the 'must not forget' column for things that would end the trip: documents, medication, chargers, keys.

Trip			Dates		Nights		Bag or case		Weight limit
Item	Where it packs	Packed	Item	Where it packs	Packed

Must not forget — documents, medication, chargers, keys, tickets
